

“It ain’t what we don’t know that hurts us – it’s what we think we know that just ain’t so”
-Artemus Ward

In today’s technical world, it’s probably both, Artemus.

Schunk IT Consulting does not “certify” technical and management people – we simply strive to share the technical skills and insight we’ve gained over decades of experience.

Some of this can be gained in the classroom, some can be obtained on the job with a mentor, and some can be learned with a simple phone call or shared session with a teacher or mentor.

Schunk-IT Consulting can:

- Design and deliver technical courses with the content you want, geared to your organization’s environment, staff capabilities and culture.
- Mentor technical staff one-on-one or in a group.
- Deliver ongoing support as cooperative problem solvers, mentors and expert resources.
- Provide refresher courses that reflect new technologies and changes in your organization’s environment.
- Research obscure and difficult issues for, or with, your staff.
